A note from the headteacher

Mrs Fletcher is on the road to recovery and is starting to feel better. She is hoping to visit some time next week and then may begin a phased return from 10th December. We are looking forward to having her back! With the colder weather, there are an increasing number of children feeling poorly. In order to prevent the spread of contagious winter illnesses, we would politely request that parents keep their children at home in the warm, where they can fully recover before returning to school. It's been a fun couple of weeks in school as we get nearer to Christmas. Cherry Class have been learning about nocturnal animals, in particular bats. In maths we talked about opposites and a huge thank you to Jack's dad who went on a mission to the library to find a book that Jack had read and was desperate to share with the class (it was a pretty funny book).

If you have any questions or queries concerning the school or your child/children, please do not hesitate to speak to your child's teacher or contact me at school. Alternatively, you can email me at head.3146@bladon.oxon.sch.uk

Apple Class had their first rugby session with Matt which they really enjoyed. There were some big tackles! The nativity rehearsals are going well and there are even signs of Christmas appearing in the classroom.

Oak Class have been using technology to create podcasts about internet safety and the SMART rules. Willow Class have started their Young Enterprise projects and are working hard on their business ideas. They have researched the viability and costs of their products and presented their pitches this week to secure their investment. The children are very excited about starting to make their products and then selling them at the Christmas Fayre.

Don't forget children in Oak and Willow Class attending the Carol Service Concert will need any costumes in school by Monday 3rd December.

You can collect free tickets for the KS1 Nativity performance of Hey Ewe from the school office from Monday. Initially families are limited to two tickets per performance. If you would like additional tickets, they will be released on Friday 7th December subject to availability.
